

Topological methods in evolutionary game theory

Stefano Demichelis, Italy

Abstract

I will discuss how some topological concepts can shed light on evolution and its modelling in game theory, solving several apparent paradoxes. In particular I will discuss linguistic and cooperation games at a level accessible to game and economic theorists.

The second part of the talk, more technical, will deal with necessary conditions for stability of differential inclusions.