Stabilizing of an anaerobic digestion model

Prof. Mikhail Krastanov (Sofia University, Bulgaria)

A four-dimensional nonlinear dynamic model of a biological wastewater treatment process is considered. The model is known to be practically verified and reliable. Various feedback control laws are proposed to stabilize asymptotically the closed-loop system towards a previously chosen operating point. Computer simulations illustrate the obtained theoretical results.